1. Policy statement

Mater Education must exercise due care and skill when providing services to consumers. Services must also be fit for purpose.

Mater Education will provide consumers with clear, current and accurate information about our services to enable consumers to make informed choices.

1.1 Scope and context

This policy applies to the protection of consumer rights under Australian law where Mater Education collects fees from an individual learner, either directly or through a third party. It applies to all programs delivered by Mater Education where fees are charged to an individual learner.

These requirements do not apply where an employer engages Mater Education to provide services to members of its staff through a negotiated commercial transaction.

2. Principles

The following set of principles describes the objectives and outcomes of the policy:

2.1 Principle one: Consumer Guarantees

Mater Education services come with automatic consumer guarantees. Mater Education will accurately represent the services it provides but does not guarantee that:

- a learner will successfully complete training, or
- training can be completed in a manner which does not meet the inherent requirements of course, or
- a learner will obtain an employment outcome where this is outside the control of Mater Education.

Consumer guarantees do not apply for a change of mind, finding another service cheaper elsewhere or it was later decided that there was no further use for the service.

2.2 Principle two: Refunds

Mater Education will offer a replacement service where possible.

Any request for a refund will be treated fairly however eligibility for a refund will be based on the services provided and the costs incurred by Mater Education in order to provide such services.

Consumers may seek to transfer their enrolment which can be done once at no charge. Any further requests to transfer enrolment will incur a transfer fee of $25 (incl. GST). See Appendix 2.

Refunds will not be provided for materials purchased by the consumer that will become the property of the purchaser e.g. uniform shirts.

An administration fee may apply for processing refunds.

2.3 Principle three: Cancellation of a service

If Mater Education was unable to deliver the service as agreed due to insufficient numbers or other unforeseen circumstances, it will refund any fees paid in full.

2.4 Principle four: Eligibility for a refund

Notifications to cancel enrolment must be received in writing no less than 10 business days (2 weeks) prior to the start of the course. Where hard copy pre-course learning materials have been provided (shipped) or access granted to electronic pre-course learning material it is deemed that the person has started the course and no refund applies.

Refunds do not apply where:

- people don't complete the course once it starts, or
- people fail to attend.

From time to time Mater Education will apply different eligibility criteria for a refund due to its investment in the provision of such a service and/or due to the legislative or regulatory requirements of the service. Variations to this policy will be clearly displayed so that the consumer can make an informed choice. See Appendix 1.

2.5 Principle five: Special circumstances

A refund can be sought where special circumstances apply. Requests for a refund must demonstrate to Mater Education's satisfaction that the circumstances are:

- beyond a person's control
- did not make their full impact until on, or after, the service, or the part of the service commenced, and
- made it impracticable to continue.

Special circumstances generally relate to personal illness or accidents. Supporting documentation will be required. They do not apply where a personal decision conflicts with any legal directive imposed on Mater Education post course commencement.
